PERSONAL .- The following "dramatic charcters" were among the guests at the Spencer Jouse, yesterday: Miss Matilda Heron, J. W. Vallack, jr., Mr. Palmer, Miss Joey Gougen-leim, Eddy, Mr. J. S. Chanfrau, Mr. Willard, Harry Eytinge.

CITIZENS' CONVENTION .- A call has been sued for a citizens' convention, to be held morrow morning at Greenwood Hall, briner of Sixth and Vine, for the purpose of ominating a ticket for the offices to be filled at the ensuing April election.

Fire Yesterday Morning.—About ten o'clock, yesterday morning, a fire broke out in the second story of the Ohio Medical College, in a room occupied by a man named Mayo. It appears that one of the chimneys of the building caught fire, and some of the burning soot fell upon the floor, thus setting it also on fire. The flames were soon quenched, but not until the contents of the room hed been damaged to the extent of nearly fifty dollars.

Man's Les Broken by a Falt.—A man named Giuseppe Bertramo, while half inebriated, fell from an express-wagon, yesterday afternoon, at the corner of Sixth and Plum, and broke his leg, besides otherwise severely injuring himself. His head was badly bruised, and the vehicle passed over his body, but his wounds, although painful, are not at all dangerous. He was carried in the wagon to his residence on Front-street, near Vine, where his wants were attended to by a neighboring physician. oring physician.

Sgrious Accident to an Aged Female.—
A woman named Ellen Whiteman, about fifty years of age, while walking along Fifth-street, near Sycamore, yesterday afternoon, stepped upon an iron grating in the pavement, which turned, throwing her violently to the sidewalk, breaking her left arm, and otherwise seriously injuring her. She was carried into a neighboring house, where her wounds were dressed; after which she was taken to her residence, on Broadway, near Culvert-street. Culvert-street.

PROSPECTIVE MARRIAGE OF A CINCINNATI PROSPECTIVE MARSHAGE OF A CINCINNATI EX-EDITOR TO THE DAUGHTER OF A MILLION-AIRE.—The New York correspondent of the Charleston Courier says in a late letter that A. D. Banks, Esq., formerly editor of the South Side Democrat, and more recently of our neighbor of the Enquirer, is soon to lead to the hymeneal altar one of the daughters of George Law, the well-known millionaire. If this be true, we are glad of the pecuniary, not to say amorous, success of Mr. Banks, who is a most amiable and worthy gentleman.

THE "TIGER" AMONG THE DEMOCRACY.— Several Burnet-street financiers, who bank upon the principle that the more you put in the less you take out, are making arrange-ments to visit Charleston, and open an es-tablishment for the benefit of members of the tablishment for the benefit of members of the Convention, and outsiders, during the session. Seven dollars a day for board, however, will probably put a check upon the operations of small depositors. The large majority of those who undertake a pilgrimage to the Democratic Mecca, will not need to divide with the 'tiger," in order to get rid of their surplus.

ARREST OF A COUPLE OF COUNTERPRITERS. ARREST OF A COUPLE OF COUNTERPRITERS.—A couple of men, named Joseph Rauth and Joseph Sturns, were committed to jail, yesterday, by Judge Lowe, in default of bail in the sum of $2,000, for further examination, next Wednesday, on a charge of attempting to pass a counterfeit ten-dollar bill on the State Bank of Ohio, Piqua Branch. The parties were arrested at the instance of a man named J. H. Inwall, and are supposed to be regularly engaged in the transaction of business more or less directly connected with the ness more or less directly connected with the manufacture and circulation of counterfeit ARREST OF A PICKPOCKET.—The light-fingered gentry never make any local discriminations, but pursue their vocation wherever a crowd may be found. A fellow named James Ward was arrested in the act of abstracting a portemonnaie from the pocket of a man, while attending the ceremony of laying the corner-stone of the new St. Xavier Church, on Sycamore-street, day before yesterday. He was taken before Judge Lowe, yesterday morning, pleaded guilty of the charge, and was sentenced to pay the costs and undergo an imprisonment in the City Prison for a term of twenty days. ARREST OF A PICKPOCKET .- The light term of twenty days.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSION-ERS.—At the regular diurnal session of the County Commissioners, held yesterday morning, orders were passed amounting in the aggregate to $30,288 68, of which $22,836 17 were paid to Auditor Mathews for salaries of himself and the attackes of his office, and $432 51 to George Fries for work upon the new fail

In accordance with the recommendation of Dr. C. V. Fishburn, the physician of the County Jail, Lewis Long was removed by order of the Commissioners, from that institution to the Commercial Hospital.

James B. Bell was directed to examine the bridge over the canal, near St. Bernard, on the Carthage Road, and report its condition forthwith. Apart from the above no business of importance was transacted.

of importance was transacted.

MECHANICS' AND MANUPACTURERS' EX-CHANGE.—The attendance at the meeting of the Mechanics' and Manufacturers' Exchange, yesterday morning, was quite Lage. Phillip Hinkle occupied the chair, and after the min-utes of the previous meeting had been read and approved, the following names were added to the membership roll:

and approved, the following names were added to the membership roll:

Smith and Gusher, machinists and mill-wrights; proposed by John Heich.

Harcourt & Meek, manufacturers of blocks, pumps, spans, &c.; proposed by Jas. Mack.

C. Bunter, carpeuter and joiner; proposed by H. W. Bowman.

Messra. Pierson, Cameron, Green, Startzman, Ross, and Hinkle spoke of the death of John Wood, and alluded to his character in the highest terms of respect. A committee, consisting of Wesley M. Cameron, Daniel B. Pierson, William H. Stewart, Sylvester Hand, John K. Green, Samuel Startzman, and Ezekiel Ross, was appointed to draft a preamble and resolutions expressing the sense of the meeting in regard to his demise. They soon returned with the following report, which was unanimously adopted, after which the meeting adjourned:

Whenmas, The members of the Mechanics and Manufacturers' Exchange have heard, with deep regret, of the death of John Wood, an old and respected citizen—for many years a lumber merchant—and always illustration.

with deep regret, of this death of John wood, an old and respected citizen—for many years a lumber merchant—and always illustrating in practice that "an honest man is the noblest work of God;" therefore,

Resolved, That the members of this Exchange attend the funeral on Tuesday afternoon, at two o'clock, at the Methodist Protestant Church, on Sixth-street, between Vine and Race.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT—LITTLE GIAL CRUSHED TO DEATH BY THE FALL OF A STOVE.—A little daughter of Mrs. Margaret Simpson, about three years of age, residing on Second-street, near Butler, was so badly injured last Saturday evening, by the fall of a stove, that after lingering in the intensest pain until yesterday noon, she died. The circumstances, as related to us by the attending physician, are as follows:

as follows:

The stove, having lost a couple of its feet, had been kept in its position by bricks, which were made to supply their loss, and these had become displaced, while the child was playing about them, causing the stoveto fall. Her ribs and collar-bone were broken by the accident, and her body crushed and mangled in the most shocking manner, beside being severely burnt. Her mother happened to be in the room at the time; but her fright and the heated condition of the stove caused some time to elapse before the child could be extricated.

time to elapse before the child could be extricated.

Medical aid was immediately called in, but all that could be done for the purpose of relieving her sufferings was without avail. Indeed, it is somewhat singular that the child survived so long, for her body was jellied, apparently, by the weight that had fallen upon it, and burnt in some places so that it looked more like charred wood than human flesh. Her writhings under the pain she was compelled to endure are described as horrible in the extreme, until yesterday morning, when is the screen, will yesterday morning, when he became quite easy, and died with a smile upon her face—which by the way was not at all injured—so calm and placid that it suggested a peace and freedom from pain, never to be attained save at the close of this, or the beginning of a better life.

an old and respected citizen—for many years a lumber merchant—and always illustrating in practice that "an honest man is the noblest work of God;" therefore,

Resolved, That the members of this Exchange attend the funeral on Tuesday afternoon, at two o'clock, at the Methodist Protestant Church, on Sixth-street, between Vine and Race.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the friends and relations of the deceased.

Wesleyan Female College, on Vine-street, near Sixth, have prepared a novel entertainment for their friends, on Thursday evening next. It will consist of the performance of Norma, under the direction of Prof. Smith, assisted by a large chorus. The beautiful music of this finest of all operas is well known, and, as its performance, by a glee-class is an entirely original idea, we doubt not the audience will be very large.

Mr. Longacre claimed that the amendment to the third section amounted to nothing. Who could tell whether freight were through freight, or destined to Cincinnati? Fraud would be daily practiced.

Mr. Allnut did not believe that a franchise worth $500,000 or $1,000,000 ought to be granted for the construction of the bridge, which would be completed at any rate. It is said that the bridge would add to the population of Covington. No matter. The people would come, bridge or no bridge. Cincinnati was full to overflowing, and the surplus would come here. Passengers, freight, everything would pass through the town without stopping, and the merchants and hotel keepers would all be ruined, and Covington would become only a flag station. All the 150,000 hogs brought from central Kentucky would go through direct, and not stop here, and the people would lose twenty-five cents per head, the usual cost of taking them from the Railroad Station. It was the greatest scheme of the age.

It was the greatest scheme of the age.

The speech elicited considerable applause from the large crowd of spectators present.

Mr. Menzies thought the amendments ought to have been in three different parts. He opposed the restriction on way freight; it would encourage men to go to New York for goods, instead of stopping in Cincinnati or Covington. The invitation to a Covington. The invitation to a Covington company to subscribe the stock, he favored; but he was opposed to submitting it to the people. Councilmen were elected to make laws, and they ought to have the backbone to do their duty. (Cheers from the spectators.) He favored the bill, in the main; it would secure the completion of the bridge in five years. We must benefit the public at large, rather than particular interests, as drygoods merchants, hotel keepers, or ferrymen. The arguments of the gentleman (Mr. Allnut) had ever been used against reforms. Geo. Tazewell opposed the steam navigation of James River, and Moses Dorson opposed the construction of the Miami Canal on similar grounds. The one, it was predicted, would ruin the sail-boat trade, and the other the wagoners. But that was a great while ago. If gentlemen did not desire to see people go to Cincinnati to trade, let them raise the ferriage to twenty-five cents. That would do continuate to trade, let them raise the ferriage to twenty-five cents. That would do continuate to trade, let them raise the ferriage to twenty-five cents. That would do it effectually; but he supposed no one had the hardihood to do it. He was opposed to raising a revenue from street railroads. All taxes should be upon property. The city had a controlling vote in the bridge company. Let commerce be as unfettered as possible. As Cincinnati advances, so will Covington, and no faster.
